Grading Policy:

$A \geq 90\%$

$80\% \leq B < 90\%$

$70\% \leq C < 80\%$

$60\% \leq D < 70\%$

$F < 60\%$

Weighting Policy:

Homework: 10%

Tests: 50%

Quizzes: 30%

Participation: 10%

Rounding: Grade rounding is only considered at the end of a semester and on an individual basis.

Required Materials:

- You may leave the following text at home: College Algebra with Trigonometry text 9th edition by Barnett, Ziegler, Byleen, and Sobacki, and published by McGraw Hill. For class, a picture of the text or homework problem is sufficient!
- Algebra 2H folder or binder- you may decide how to organize your papers
- Pen or pencil, although pencil is preferred, and a colored writing utensil for grading
- Paper for notes: a spiral notebook, composition book, or looseleaf paper to put in your binder
- A TI-83 or TI-84 calculator in class every day

Classroom Rules:

- Treat everyone how you would want to be treated – with care, patience, and respect!
- All school rules apply. Please read the student handbook, especially pages 18-20, 28, and 69.

Electronics Policy: Cell phones need to be off and away, unless we are using them for math class. No listening to music during class, including after a quiz or test.

Homework Policy: Homework is assigned every night and is checked the next day. You will receive 4 points for a complete homework assignment or 0 points for an incomplete assignment. I make sure to assign meaningful problems for your practice and to challenge you, so please do all of them! You will receive 2 homework extensions each quarter. If you don't use them, you lose them.

Cheating Policy: All work submitted must be your own work. Should you turn in an assignment that is not your own work, you will receive a 0 for the assignment. To help reduce stress throughout the year and to promote honest work, you will be given one extension of a deadline of your choice, as long as you speak to me in person within 24 hours of the deadline and the extension is not needed due to procrastination. You and I will discuss a new deadline for the quiz, test, or project and your grade will not be penalized.

Website (www.hcgreen.weebly.com): Please check the website every day. I will always have the current calendar posted and any answer keys, worksheets, objective checklists, or review problems to try.
